

My Chiropractic Experience

“Prior to starting care, John’s vocabulary had only 25-30 words. Since beginning care, he is now speaking in full sentences.”

Chiropractic care was suggested to me by another parent who’s child was also autistic like my son John. At its worst, John sat in a room by himself. He didn’t talk to anybody. When we would have company over he would retreat into his room by himself or cry uncontrollably. If we took him out, he would cry until we took him back home. He didn’t want to be bothered with anybody. He wouldn’t play with his siblings. He wanted to be by himself. He didn’t talk or play. We couldn’t go anywhere or do anything as a result. I knew nothing about chiropractic care prior to coming to Ochsner Chiropractic Center. John had been in speech therapy. He is currently in occupational therapy, but previously that wasn’t offered to us. Prior to his third birthday, there was no treatment. The doctor said that he would be fine and could wait four months for school to start. When I took him to the school district, they asked me why he wasn’t in early childhood and why no one was helping my child. At that point no one had helped my child with anything. It was his teacher, Lori Rolewicz, who referred us here.

Prior to starting care, John’s vocabulary had only 25-30 words. Since beginning care, he is now speaking in full sentences. John plays with other children. John is happy, very happy. That is most important part. He is now an active part of the family, the extended family, and the world. It has allowed us to be out more with other people. We can function as a family. It has opened up a whole new world to us.

I love this office. Everybody knows us. I’ve seen a thousand doctors and I have never walked into an office before where everyone knows my name and all of my children’s names. Everyone here knows us, and everything about us, and remembers us each time we come. No one opens a file to see who we are, we simply walk in the door and everyone knows and remembers us. I love being here and I can’t believe that I didn’t know about this place before!
